Thank you, Mr. Chairman and members of the subcommittee. I am pleased to be here today to update you on the progress of programs established to monitor adverse health effects in the after-math of the World Trade Center attack. As you know, up to 400, 000 people living, working, and attending school in the vicinity were affected, and thousands of responders were exposed to many physical and environmental toxins as they took part in rescue, recovery, and clean up activities. The...
